Odds and Ends.

-Temperance is the best medicine. -Death is certain; time uncertain. -Let your talk be honest, true, con-

-Better spare at the brim than at the bottom. -Let your thoughts be sober, divine,

-Everyone's thoughts are not written on his forchead.

-Let your apparel be modest, neat comely.

-Let your works be holy, profitable, -Insensibility is the companion of drunkenness. -Let your manners be grave, courtcous, cheerful. ient, frugal.

-Society, like faded silk, must be viewed in all situations.

-Relatives take the greatest libeaties, and give the least assistance.

—It is best not to be angry; and best in the next place to be quickly recon-

-Modesty in woman is like color on her check-decidedly becoming if not put on

-Idleness is hard work for those who are not used to it, and dull work for those who are,

-The gem cannot be polished without friction, nor man perfected without adversity.

"The love of money is the root of all evil;" and the root, like those of the cancer, is generally ineradicable.

-Everything that looks to the future elevates human nature, for never is life so low or so little as when occupied with the present.

-What madness is it for a man to starve himself to enrich his heir, and so THES turn a friend into an enemy; for his joy at your death will be in proportion to what you leave him.

A Great Law Suit.

In 1854, Cyrus H. McCormiek, of Chieago, entered into a partnership for seven years, with his brothers, William and Leander, for the manufacture and sale of reaping and mowing machines, Cyrus holding one-half interest, and each of his brothers one-fourth. William McCormick died in 1865, leaving a widow and five children, in whose behalf the administrator brings a suit for an adjustment of the partnership. In the bill it is alleged that upon said death the surviving partners carried on the business without change until the 16th of June, 1866, when they entered into an agreement that unless prohibited by the court, or it should be deemed prejudicial to the interests of the estate of William S., the business should be defined by the local states for Waltham, National, and United States for Waltham, Nati 16th of June, 1866, when they entered of William S., the business should be continued untill the full seven years contemplated in the agreement had expired, the interest of the deceased being carried on for the benefit of his estate. is further alleged that, on the 1st of Au- Ladies' Gold Hunting Watches, American and gust, 1867, said surviving partners, pretending that the interests of the estate would be jeopardized by a continuance of the business in its behalf, closed the books, and opened a new set for the business, which has since been carried on for their joint benefit exclusively. The bill sets forth that the interest of the deceased in the personal effects of the partnership is of the value of $250,000 and upward; and that the real estate of the Rings, Gold Bracelets, Silver firm is of the value of $800,000 and upward; also, that said surviving partners have offered the sum of $497,229,05, payable in five equal yearly installments, with interest at six per cent., for the entire interest of the estate of the deceased in the business. The bill prays that an account may be had of the late copartnership since and before the death of the deceased and that the interest of the control of the late copartnership since and before the death of the deceased and that the interest of the control of the late copartnership since and before the death of the control of the late copartnership since and before the death of the control of the late copartnership since and before the death of the control of the late copartnership since and before the death of the late copartnership since and before the late copartnership since and before the death of the late copartnership since and before the death of the late copartnership since and before the death of the late copartnership since and before the late copartnership able in five equal yearly installments, with interest at six per cent., for the en-tire interest of the estate of the deceased the deceased, and that the interest of the estate may be sold to the best advantage. An exhibit to the bill shows that the present assets of the firm, including 6,-175 mowers, valued at $324,875, and 4,-833 reapers, valued at $724,950, foot up to $3,884,354.65. Total liabilities, including $175,000 loss on bad debts, $2,124,-586.43, leaving a balance of $1,757,764.-

We congratulate Col. Forney on his relief from official thraldom. He is restored to the full freedom of editorial life. He can now say what he pleases.
—without any restraints of office, personal propriety or self-respect. Every-body who has read his "two papers, both daily," will understand what a relief this will be to him. The restraints he has been forced to impose on his pen,— the defence he has been compelled to show for the feelings and the rights of others, have sadly marred the freedom of his comments on "recreants" and men who made themselves "infamous" by voting against, his direction. by voting against his directions. We are a little curious to note the effect which this sudden deliverance from official fetters will have on his editorial style.—N. Y. Times.

Y., is four years old, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, stands nearly 16 hands high, and is one of the best of the get of his celebrated sire, Young Dexter is a half brother to Dexter, George Wilkes, Bruno, Brunette—allied to Mountain Boy—and other well known horses. Very evidently, from his size, shape, etc., Young Dexter will not only bring gentle, fine and speedy stock, but also handsome carriage and family horses as well. It is manifestly for the benefit of stock growers that they obtain not only the best and most popular blood in the country, but also that which commands the highest prices in market, and it requires no more labor or care to raise a good colt than an inferior once. It was with the view to improve the stock of horses in Northern New York, Vermont and New Hampshire, etc., that Young Dexter was purchased by its present owner, Mr. H. C. Page, Editor of the People's Journal—the object being to benefit farmers and stock growers who are willing te undergo the care and expense necessary to the raising of good horses.
